College of Communications
THE FLORENCE PROGRAM—A LIFE CHANGING EXPERIENCE!

Study under the Tuscan sun in summer or fall 2016 with CSUF’s largest and most successful study abroad programs.

The 2016 SIX-WEEK SUMMER PROGRAM (The International Media Workshops) will begin May 24th, with classes being held online or in-class at CSUF on May 24th, 25th, 26th, 31st, June 1st and 2nd. Students will depart from LAX on June 3rd for Florence and return on July 3rd.

Approximate cost, including American Institute of Foreign Study (AIFS) fees, CSUF summer fees, and flight will be less than $5,670. Contracts are still pending so this is an estimate. The AIFS fees include, accommodations in apartments near the study center, an orientation program, guided tours to the Uffizi and Palazzo Pitti, day trips to Chianti, Siena and San Gimignano, and a three-day trip to Rome (including the Colosseum, Roman Forum, Saint Peter’s Basilica, The Sistine Chapel and Vatican Museums, and Cinecitta). Transportation, accommodations in tourist class hotel, and breakfasts are included.

Students must take 6-units (two courses). Classes to be offered include:

- COMM 334: Feature/Travel Writing (3 units) (also counts for COMM 351) Dr. Robin Larsen
- COMM 426: Global Media Systems (3 units) Dr. Anthony R. Fellow
- RTVF 360: International Reality TV (3 units) Dr. Garry Hart
- RTFV 375: Documentary Film & TV (3 units) Professor Jacqueline Frost
- RTVF 377T: National Cinemas (3 units) Dr. Anthony R. Fellow

Enrollment will be limited to 45 students. Applications are due March 2016.
The 2016 FLORENCE FALL SEMESTER PROGRAM will begin with classes being held online on August 23rd, 24th, 30th, 31st, September 6th. Students will depart from LAX Sept. 11th for Florence and return Dec. 11th.

Approximate cost for American Institute of Foreign Study (AIFS) fees is $6,195 or less. Contracts are pending so this is an estimate. This cost includes accommodations near the study center, an orientation program, guided tours to the Uffizi and Palazzo Pitti, day trips to Chianti, Siena and San Gimignano and a three-day trip to Rome (including the Colosseum, Roman Forum, Saint Peter's Basilica, The Sistine Chapel, Vatican Museums, and a visit to Cinecittà); a three-day trip to Torino, with guided tours in the Museo Nazionale del Cinema and the Egyptian Museum. Transportation, accommodations in tourist class hotels, and breakfast will be included in the Rome and Torino trips. Cooking, leather making, paper making and sports activities also will be offered as optional activities. In addition, optional trips will be available. The fee does not cover CSUF tuition or the flight to Italy. AIFS will book a block of flight tickets for students.

Students can take 12 to 15 units. At least two classes must be taken in Florence. Online courses offered at CSUF also can be taken. Classes to be offered include:

- COMM 334: Feature Article Writing (3 units) Dr. Robin Larsen
- COMM 426: Global Media Systems (3 units) Dr. Anthony R. Fellow
- RTVF 350: Story Structure (3 units) Dr. Jule Selbo
- RTVF 370: World Cinema (3 units) Dr. Jule Selbo
- RTVF 377T: National Cinemas: The Italian Cinema (3 units) Dr. Anthony R. Fellow
- RTVF 455: First Draft Screenplay (3 units) Dr. Jule Selbo

Enrollment will be limited to 30 students.
Application deadline is June 2016.

For more information, visit www.theflorenceprogram.com. Application forms will be available in January. In addition, please contact Dr. Anthony Fellow at afellow@fullerton.edu if you would like to be placed on the CSUF Florence Program Newsletter emailing list. The newsletter will provide notification of upcoming information meetings on campus. Dr. Fellow (afellow@fullerton.edu), Dr. Jule Selbo (jselbo@fullerton.edu) and Dr. Robin Larsen (robinalarsen@yahoo.com) are currently teaching in the Florence Semester Program and will respond by email to any questions.